Each PCRecruiter customer will have their own unique login URL assigned when the account is created.

Login URLs are in the following format:

https://www2.pcrecruiter.net/pcr.asp?uid=odbc.youraccountname

If you are unsure of your unique login URL, please contact a PCRecruiter representative.

Once you've reached the login screen, you will see three main areas. The upper area contains the login form itself. Here you will select from the databases in your account (if more than one exists) and enter your username and password.

The lower left area of the screen indicates the current System Status. Here you will see any notices regarding planned maintenance or service interruptions.

The 'What's New' area on the lower right includes recent posts from the PCRecruiter Blog, including update notices for new features and changes.

Along the bottom edge of the screen you will find links to install the PCR Launcher, as well as links to the HelpDesk, this documentation area, and a support chat module.
